Diamond Spectacles.

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and are called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heated rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.
Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Comp New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & CO., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. I., from whom they can only be obtained. No peddlers employed. Do not buy any unless you see the trade mark

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1874.

FUN ON THE HIGHWAY.

HOW AN OHIO HOG DRIVER TOOK TOO MUCH OF THE FORBIDDEN BEVERAGE AND IN CONSEQUENCE WAKED THE WRONG PASSENGER.

The setting sun on Thursday afternoon threw a halo upon a vast drove of hogs, sedately marching down the Olive Street rock road, attended by two gentlemen, one garnished with a stick, and the other embellished with a blacksnake whip. It was rather chilly, in fact cold and as the gentlemen walked along in pleasant conversation, sometimes addressed to each other and sometimes to the hogs, they began to feel the influence of the raw atmosphere, the effects of which they tried to overcome at every bar they fell in with. Encouraged with their success, they became hilarious and in their good humor poked each other and the pigs in the ribs, in that familiar manner which characterizes good fellows charmed with each other's society. He of the blacksnake cracked his lash until the air was full of snaps, and shouted and yelled in the exuberance of his fine spirits. As his enthusiasm arose, he pined for loftier deeds, and told him of the stick that the next traveler would make some fun that even the hogs could enjoy.

But a few more drinks had been concealed when they met a man in a buggy—a man who had been hunting, and had some dangerous implements in his buggy. With a spring of the whip, he grasped the reins and brought the horse, man and buggy to a sudden halt.

"Stranger," said the man in the buggy, leaning forward, with his elbows on his knees, "stranger, I wish you'd let that horse go."

"Partner," said he of the whip, "I can't. I can't let that horse go. I want to know, partner, where you're going."

"Stranger," quoth the man in the buggy, "I don't think its any of your business. Really I don't."

"I don't want to hurry you, partner, but you must answer my question, or you must slide outen that yer buggy, and dance a fling for us right here," and he snapped his whip uncomfortably close to the buggy man's countenance.

"You see, stranger," said the man in the buggy, "I don't think I can dance. My boots are too heavy."

"You can take your boots off if you want to, partner. I ain't modest, and won't mind your bare feet; but I say, partner, you want to be quick, 'cause these hogs and this yer friend o' mine is getting mighty impatient."

"Well, if you want to see a dance mighty bad, stranger, I reckon I must accommodate you. I've got some light boots in here, and when I get 'em on I'll show you how it's done," and he fumbled under the buggy seat. In a moment he rose up with a huge revolver in his paw, saying, "How will that do for dancing, stranger?"

The next instant he was on the ground, his left hand comprehending the throat of Black-snake, and the pistol pressed tight to his forehead. The hogs looked at each other with raised eyebrows, and were all the more astonished when they saw him of the stick hoisting himself over a fence and sliding for peace on earth and good will among men behind a neighboring barn.

"Stranger, would you be so polite as to drop that whip?"

He dropped it.

"Now, stranger," we'll have that dance."

"Well partner, I don't know but it's time that dance began."

Just then Sam Ecker drove up, and the situation was explained to him. Samuel, being a devotee of Terpsichore himself, gravely considered that the dance should go on.

"You'll find it more comfortable, stranger, to dance without those boots, and I think you'd better take 'em off."

"I estimate you're right about that, partner," and down squatted Black-snake and disrobed his feet, and took off his coat.

It is said by those who saw him that Black-snake is an excellent dancer. He has a keen appreciation of the fine points, and has a way of slinging his feet that many masters of the art have not acquired.

"Warm, ain't it, stranger?"

Black-snake conceded it was a little oppressive, and he resumed his habiliments, after five minutes' hard work.

"Good-by, stranger," said the buggy man.

"Good-by, partner. Say, partner, don't mention this little thing in Lucas Market, will you?"

But, somehow, it was mentioned in Sam's house, and at Billy Beck's and for a day or two Black-snake found no peace save in the society of his hogs.—[St. Louis Globe.

JAPANESE JUGGLERS.—Bayard Taylor, who has travelled all over the world, says that the favorite jugglers at the Japanese street corners are young boys, who, before commencing their tricks, conceal their heads in large hoods, with a tuft of cock's feathers on top and a small scarlet mask, representing the muzzle of a dog. The hood, mask and feathers rest above the head, while a kind of sack like covering falls down, hiding head, neck and shoulders. "These poor children," he says, "in bending and curving themselves one upon the other, to the thump and jingle of their conductor's tambourine, present the appearance of a grotesque and fantastic struggle between two animals with monstrous heads and small human limbs." The conductors are grown men who go about with the boy-jugglers and receive the money thrown by interested lookers-on. Their uncovered faces are sometimes hideous with the efforts they make in singing and making noises to attract a crowd.

ANECDOTES FROM CHARLES SUMNER.—A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times visited Senator Sumner the other day, and found him in conversation with H. K. Brown, to whom he said, "When Longfellow was last in Verona, he of course visited the celebrated Scallinger horses. One or two persons were fussing about the group, but he took no special notice of them until somebody cried out, 'Longfellow, my boy, where did you come from? The astonished poet looked up and beheld Ruskin, tape measure and note book in hand, taking careful measurements of the work for future reference." After a conversation on political matters with the correspondent, Mr. Sumner said, "Just a few minutes more, please. We were talking about the Jackson statue awhile ago. I wish to tell you about a little matter in connection therewith. When Thackeray was in this city we visited, among the earlier places, the Capitol rotunda. Thackeray was an artist by birthright, and his judgment was beyond chance or question. He took a quiet turn around the rotunda, and in a few words gave each picture its perfectly correct rank and art valuation. 'Trumbull is your painter,' he said, 'never neglect Trumbull.'

Other places of interest were then seen, after which they started homeward. He had not yet been at my house, and my chief anxiety was to reach him safely past that Jackson statue. The conversation hung persistently upon art matters, which made it certain that I was to have trouble when we should come in view of that particular excrescence. We turned the dreaded corner at last, when, to my astonishment, Mr. Thackeray held straight past the hideous figure, moving his head neither to the right nor left, and chatting as airily as though we were strolling through an English park. Now I knew that the instant we came in sight of poor Jackson's caricature, he saw it, realized its accumulated terrors at a glance, and in the charity of his great heart took all pains to avoid having a word to say about it. Ah, but he was a man of rare consideration!"

"Supposing though," said the correspondent, "he was now living and visiting here, would his tongue hold fire if he should stumble across Clark Mills's Washington, or Vinnie Ream's"—

"Please don't," said Mr. Sumner. "Good night."

THE CIVIL LIST AND PROPERTY OF NAPOLEON III. The Paris correspondent of the London Times remarks that the question of the civil list of Napoleon III., about which so much has been said, seems likely to end in a compromise. A certain sum, probably about 600,000, will be given for the disputed collections. With respect to the Chinese Museum, a curious point of discussion has arisen, which is understood now to constitute the chief obstacle to a final settlement. That collection was made by the French army; in other words, it is a selection from the plunder of the Summer palace and from the general booty of the campaign in China. The question is whether the presents made to the empress by that army were offered to the sovereign or to the woman. It has not been a common custom with armies to present tithes of their spoils to their sovereign. It appears that the empress was very generous to the troops employed in China, and sent them large quantities of lint, brandy, cigars and other necessaries and comforts, paid for out of her own pocket. So her advocates say that the princely gift was a token of gratitude to the charitable woman. The commission inclines to think that an army could make such a present only to the sovereign, and in this latter case, sovereign being deposed, it belongs to the country. You perceive that it is a very nice question, but we may expect it to be settled in favor of the empress, since it would not comport with the dignity of a great country to show itself too rigorous and exacting in such a matter. I hear that M. Merton, the well-known speculator on the Paris Bourse, who lately died suddenly, was in treaty, just before his death, for the purchase of the collection.

DR. SCHENCK'S STANDARD REMEDIES.

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea-weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food, and prevents souring. It assists the digestion, by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

Dr. Schenck can be consulted at the Quincy House, Boston, on Wednesday, March 25th, April 8th and 22nd, May 13th and 27th.

Advice will be given free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer, the charge is $5.00.

Schenck's Medicines are sold by all Druggists throughout the country.

Schenck's Almanac can be had of all Druggists free. mar11-eod

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1874.

THE DAY.

Gen. Banks has already been suggested for the vacant Massachusetts Senatorship. Charles Francis Adams has also been suggested for the place. Probably Butler, Dawes, E. R. Hoar, Gov. Bullock and Gov. Washburn will be candidates.

The executive committee of the centennial commission have decided that it is too late now to change the character of the great show of 1876, and that it must be an international exposition whether Congress appropriates anything for it or not.

When we referred last Wednesday to the connection between "treating" and the excessive use of liquors we were not aware that any legislature had ever tried to check the custom by any direct enactment, but since then dispatches from California have announced that the legislature of that state has passed a bill making it a misdemeanor to invite any person to drink, or to accept an invitation to drink, liquor at any public bar.

It is possible that cannon will become engines of peace without being melted over, and that the Newport Artillery Company will find it necessary to act as an agricultural society. A scientific genius in Illinois believes that rain can be persuaded to fall by the discharge of heavy artillery and he wishes Congress to order experiments to be tried. A Kansas man now comes forward with the idea that grasshoppers can be destroyed by concussion by firing artillery over their heads.

The impudence of Ben Butler, (may his tribe decrease,) is absolutely beyond belief. On Tuesday, it will be remembered, he got roughly handled and, in the opinion of many, his opponents, especially Mr. Foster, were decidedly too much for him. Finding himself hard pressed on the floor he resorted to the composing room for satisfaction, and actually managed to withhold his remarks and Mr. Foster's from the Congressional Record till he should have time to fix them up. The trick was discovered, and he promised that no wrong should be done, but nobody supposes that he will allow the Record to show that Mr. Foster got the better of him.

PERIODICALS.

Hearth and Home.

Hearth and Home for this week contains "Pretty Mrs. Gaston" and "John Andrews." It contains interesting editorials on "Vocations," "Slate Colored Lives," "Friends, and Friendship" and "1876". Among the miscellaneous articles are "To a Lone Lorn Woman" "Two January Days in the South," "An Hour with Old Masters," "The Hysterical in Literature," "Making Life Less Difficult," "Kyle Griffiths" and "Beer Drinking on its Native Soil."

Scribner's Monthly.

The public will be interested to learn that Scribner & Co., have secured for publication in their magazine a story by M. Jules Verne, entitled "The Mysterious Island." M. Verne is well known by means of his half magic—half real, but wholly charming stories, "From the Earth to the Moon," "A Journey to the Center of the Earth," "The Fur Country," "Round the World in Eighty Days," "Twenty Thousand Leagues under the Sea," etc.

As an admirer of "Robinson Crusoe," and "The Swiss Family Robinson," M. Jules Verne has undertaken, as we understand his project, in "The Mysterious Island," to show how a body of men, thrown helpless upon a desert island, may develop a living from purely scientific resources, without any convenient wreck to draw upon for the materials of life and comfort. The idea is as attractive as it is ingenious, and affords the author the finest opportunity for the display of his peculiar gifts and acquirements. The story will be profusely illustrated from the original plates, and issued simultaneously with its appearance in Paris.

Every Saturday.

The current number of this eclectic weekly presents a new feature,—the beginning of a series of American stories which the publishers have decided to introduce. This number contains the first chapter of "His Two Wives," by Mrs. Mary Clemmer Ames. Mrs. Ames's reputation is sufficient assurance of the excellence of this story. "Far From The Madding Crowd" is continued, and there are "A Story of Red Tape," "A Gold Coast Tragedy," an article on vivisection and several other interesting papers.

The Word, in her hands, is made to sing as a nightingale, so sweetly, so luscionsly, so tunefully, so hopefully, that we forget the clouds, and through their rifts behold only the infinite depths of the blue beyond, and hear at times a music that we would fain believe not of earth, but of heaven."

NEWS ITEMS.

The Virginia senate has adopted a resolution requesting the United States to endorse the bonds of the state to the amount of $17,000.

Six of the Erie Railway strikers at Buffalo on Wednesday held to bail in $1000 each on the charge of riot. The caulkers and ship-carpenters have struck for increased pay.

According to the New York savings bank report forty per cent. of the population of that city are depositors, and their deposits average $300 each.

The dwelling house, L and barn in East Concord, N. H., owned by Mrs. Mellen Eastman, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Most of the contents, except the furniture in the house, were burned. Loss $2500; insured for $1500. Cause of fire unknown.

The papers for the extradition of A. N. Hamilton, the defaulting treasurer of Jersey City, have been served on the Mexican authorities of Matamoras, who absolutely refuse to arrest the fugitive, the judge frankly stating that the man is protected by Cortina, mayor of the city, and should there be an attempt to arrest him his life would be in danger.

The Cheyenne Leader has a despatch from Fort Laramie which says a messenger from the Red Cloud agency, just arrived, reports that Gen. Smith with eight companies of cavalry and four of infantry, started Tuesday for the Spotted Tail agency. The Brules and Minneconjous were concentrating near the agency and threaten a fight. The Indians under Red Cloud were greatly dissatisfied, and there is much hard talk about the soldiers being in that country.

A deficit of at least $58,000 has been found in the accounts of Adolph Rammers, late tax receiver of St. Louis, who died very suddenly and under suspicious circumstances Monday morning last. The finance committee of the city council are still engaged in the examination of the accounts, and other deficits may yet be found. The inquest on the body is postponed until the contents of the stomach are fully examined. Rammers was possessor of considerable property, besides an insurance of $150,000 on his life, which will probably be contested.

The large oyster and powder keg manufactory of Kellogg & Ives, in Fairhaven, Conn., was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon about six o'clock. Loss, $50,000. Insured for $30,000; divided among the Hartford, New York and Cincinnati companies. The company's safe was saved and contains the policies. It has not yet been opened. The firm was running nine hours, with forty hands, with the intention of running on full time very soon with sixty hands. Among the stock burned were 3000 powder kegs and 30,000 oyster kegs. The fire originated in a kiln dry. Their trade was not only local but extended through the continent there only being one or two other manufactories of the kind in the country.

A Havana letter of the 4th gives details of the courtesies and formalities between Admiral Caso and the officials at Havana. The admiral visited the captain-general's residence, and the latter paid an official visit to the frigate Wabash, with his full staff. All were in brilliantly decorated uniforms. The visit of the captain-general occasioned considerable comment, as being unusual. Visits of courtesy were also exchanged between the Spanish admiral of the Arapiles and Admiral Chase. Rumors are rife of a battle between Nuevitas and Principe, in which Portillo and his Spanish troops were forced to retire to Principe with a loss of 800 men and three cannon. Over 2000 troops have been sent to Nuevitas. Substitutes in Havana command $1000 in gold and are scarce. A Havana letter says the death of ex-President Cespedes will be no impediment to the Cuban cause. The railway between Nuevitas and Principe has been cut by the Cubans, and no news has been heard from Principe for several days.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

A bill to appropriate $30,000 to improve the mouth of the Mississippi river was introduced by Mr. Sypher, of Louisiana. Referred to the committee on commerce.

Resolutions were adopted that the joint committee on printing inquire and report whether the government printing office cannot be discontinued, and whether large sums of money cannot be saved by changing the method of public printing.

Mr. Sprague, of Ohio, from the committee on pensions, reported a bill to amend the act of the 14th of February, 1871, giving pensions to certain soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812, and restore to the pension roll those persons whose names were struck therefrom in consequence of disloyalty. After discussion the bill was passed.

It was discovered Wednesday morning that Benjamin Butler had taken the liberty in withholding his own remarks from publication in the Congressional Record for revision, to also withhold what was said by Mr. Foster, of Ohio. There was considerable indignation expressed at this bold act, but Butler promised that no injustice should be done in the matter. As the case stands, the remarks of Messrs. Hale, Dawes, Hawley and Phelps appear almost meaningless, and, with a day in which to leisurely doctor up his own speech, Butler will, without doubt, make a far different showing in print from that which he made on the floor, yesterday.

COAL ASHES AS A PHOSPHATIC FERTILIZER.—On the basis of numerous analyses of many varieties of coal from different localities, it is again asserted that coal ashes exert a beneficial effect on land, not only by reason of their mechanical action on some soils, but also on account of their mineral ingredients, a ton of ashes containing about 53 pounds phosphoric acid, besides sulphate of potash and alkali.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—A few of the wind bound vessels went out this morning.

—Many improvements are being made in the Barreda villa, by its new owner, W. T. Blodgett, of New York.

—Dr. Stanton will leave the city tomorrow night for a trip of a few weeks to the South. He will spend some time in Baltimore and Savannah.

—The cloth for the new police uniforms has arrived. It is more durable and more satisfactory to the policemen than any they have had for some years past.

—Michael Butler and wife have sold to George A. Armstrong for $1879.50, a lot containing 6850 feet of land and situated on the north side of Greene street.

—Judging from the large number of able bodied men in attendance at the justice court this morning, one would be led to believe that there is a scarcity of work.

—The Rev. Henry de Koven of this city leaves Newport in a few days for the purpose of spending two or three years in Europe. He will probably sail from New York April 22.

—The Rev. E. J. Wheeler will at an early day begin the building of a handsome house on Broad street. Mr. Dudley Newton is the architect. The house will have two stories and a Newton curb roof.

—Rev. Charles Kingsley had announced his purpose of paying a visit to Newport as the guest of Mr. Balch. He has now entered into an engagement with Mr. Redpath, of the Lyceum Bureau and it will depend wholly upon business arrangements whether we are favored with a visit from the gentleman or not.

—Last night some mischievous boys set fire to a lot of shavings and other light stuff in dangerous proximity to the stable of Mr. Perry G. Case on Ayrault street. Fortunately the fire was at once discovered and a few pailfuls of water extinguished it, but it was a narrow escape, and the high wind of last night greatly increased the danger.

—Officer John Steele yesterday afternoon arrested Joseph Pickford for selling liquor without the necessary license. His place of business is on the corner of Young and Spring streets and has been for a long time a troublesome locality and frequent complaints of it have been made by people living in that vicinity. Other arrests for the same cause will be made as soon as positive proof can be produced.

—The schooner Henry M. Leslie of New York went onto the breakwater yesterday and remained there during the night, the sea continually breaking over her. She was hauled off this morning by the cutter Moccasin and taken to Commercial wharf. She is loaded with pig iron and bound to Somerset in command of Capt. Anderson. The vessel is considerably damaged.

—Neaman G. Burr of the City Hotel was arrested yesterday afternoon by order of the city marshal for non payment of his liquor license which was granted to him last July. The authorities have been trying to coax the money from Mr. Burr for a long time, but they have been put off with the most trivial excuses, and he has been allowed for eight months to have the full benefit of the license law.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The societies will meet at seven o'clock in the morning and attend high mass which will be conducted by the Rev. Father Grace at eight o'clock. From the church they will return to St. Mary's hall, where they will form at nine o'clock in the following order:

Platoon of Police.
Newport Brass Band, Prof. Smith, leader.
Co., A Aquidneck Rifles, Lt. McCormick.
Co. B, Aquidneck Rifles, Lt. Dugan.
Col. Smith will command the battalion.
St. Mary's C. B. Society under command of Marshal McMahon and aids.
Knights of St. Patrick, Thomas J. Lynch.
Barouche containing the president and chaplain.

ROUTE.

The procession will form on Levin street and march through the following streets: Spring, Pelham, Bellevue avenue, Kay, Mann avenue, Broad to the Park and countermarch to the Parade where there will be a review by the mayor and other city officials and a dress parade. Then up Thames street Bridge, Washington, Long Wharf, Thames, Dearborn, Spring, Bowery, Bellevue avenue Pelham, Spring, and to St. Mary's hall where the procession will be dismissed.

THE GAS COMPANY'S BUILDING.

The Gaslight Company will own the southern half of the new building on Thames street at the foot of Mary street. The ground floor will be divided into four stores, each about 50x15.5 feet. The middle store in the Gaslight Company's half will be used as the company's office. A stairway five feet wide will reduce the front of this store to an equality with the others, but in the rear it will be twenty one feet wide.

The second floor will be divided into offices which will be supplied with a convenient but unusual supply of closets, coat rooms, etc. In Mr. Bull's part the two middle offices will be about 15x29 and the two corner offices, 16x16, with private offices or withdrawing rooms 11x13. In the company's half the four offices will be about 16x35 each, and the middle offices will be connected with private offices 10x9. The hall on this floor will be eight feet wide and run north and south.

The third story will be divided into two halls for the use of societies. The first story will be thirteen feet high, the second, ten and a half, and the third, twelve feet. Whether the front will be of iron is not yet decided, and the designs for the front are, therefore, not yet adopted. Mr. Dudley Newton is the architect.

JUSTICE COURT.

FRIDAY, 13th INST.—Samuel Pollett was arraigned before this court, this morning, for keeping a liquor nuisance, and the prosecution not being ready, the case was continued until a week from Tuesday next.

Joseph Bickford was arraigned upon a similar complaint, and the case was continued to the same time, and for the same reason.

Benjamin P. Kay was arraigned upon a complaint for breaking and entering the shop of ——— in the night time and committing larceny therein. The respondent not being ready for trial, the case was continued until a week from Tuesday next. These continuances were made, with reference to the fact that the supreme court will be in session on Tuesday next.

John Wilson was arraigned upon a complaint made under the city ordinance in such case made and provided, for indecent exposure of person in the public streets and ways of the city. The penalty attached for a violation of this ordinance is one month's imprisonment and therefore within the purview of this court both to hear and pass sentence upon. The city solicitor wishing to take the case up, made a motion to have that part of the complaint founding it upon the city ordinance stricken out, and to have the complaint made and tried as of one at common law, in which case it would be beyond the jurisdiction of the justice court, and therefore must go up, and, upon conviction, the punishment would be heavier. This motion was successfully opposed by John Turner, Esq., of Warren, the respondent's counsel, on the ground that while the court undoubtedly had a right to amend a complaint either in form or substance, they had not the power to entertain a motion to strike out one complaint, the one upon which the respondent was arrested and arraigned, and substitute another one wholly different and new, and of which neither the respondent nor his counsel ever heard before they were in court. The motion for the prosecution was disallowed, and the government concluded to go on with the trial under the complaint as made, namely, a violation of the city ordinance against indecent exposure.

Capt. Hammond was first placed on the stand and swore positively to one instance of exposure on the part of the respondent, and was subjected to a very rigorous cross examination on the part of the defense. The instance sworn to by Capt. Hammond was said to have occurred on the second day of March, and at the corner of Mann avenue and Kay street.

At the close of Capt. Hammond's examination, Mr. Turner addressed the court and said, that, although by the admission of the solicitor, the complaint was worthless by reason of its being brought under a city ordinance not authorized by an act of legislature, yet he still wished to waive all that and go to trial in order that his client the respondent might go upon the stand and vindicate himself, as he surely would from the stigma now resting upon him under this foul accusation.

The respondent then took the stand and gave a detailed account of his whereabouts during all that evening up to the time of his arrest by Capt. Hammond. He had made a plat of all the places he went to and streets through which he passed in going from his house on the Point to the alleged scene of his misconduct. He admitted that after going to look after some work he expected to do, he was in the vicinity named, but was engaged in watching from curiosity the movements of a mysterious couple, a man and woman whom he saw there, and was not thinking of committing and did not commit any misdemeanor himself. He, too, was subjected to a long cross examination, but was apparently unshaken, so far as his former statements went.

After the testimony of the respondent, Mr. Turner his council commenced his argument for the defence. In opening he paid a high compliment to Capt. Hammond as an able and efficient officer but one who started upon a trail with a great deal of professional pride and a determination to arrest and convict. In the present case, it would seem that for months and years there had been complaints in regard to offences of this kind, and Capt. Hammond had already suspected the respondent and had warned him that sometime or other he would have him. On the night in question, he had placed himslf in ambush at the house on the corner of Mann avenue and Kay street, and seeing the respondent moving about watched him sure that he was to have his man at last. Then he swears that he saw him expose himself, testifying to his seeing a white shirt, which the respondent swears he did not have on, but a checked shirt and red flannel robin such as he showed the court when he was on the stand. If he was mistaken in this could he not, must he not have been mistaken in regard to the respondent's acts? There were others, too, in the house who saw this, but I can understand the delicacy which prevents their presence in a matter so delicate and yet of so little comparative importance with the sacrifice of delicacy which they would have to make under the circumstances—upon the whole I think it is evident that Capt. Hammond was mistaken. Mr. Turner after alluding to the fact that the ordinance was worthless under which the complaint was brought and that being driven to trial under it by the court was really driving him to the wall, closed with a very feeling and stirring appeal to the court in favor of the respondent.

Mr. Solicitor Gilpin closed the case in an argument for the prosecution fixing the guilt upon the respondent according to the testimony, although he had as much sympathy for the respondent as any other person. But all that is out of the case and all things else except the fact in the case; and the strongest fact he stated was that during these years that complaints have been made constantly in regard to this offence, by divers persons, and in divers places, and in every instance the suspicion was clearly placed upon this respondent, by the universal description of his appearance. The place in question was one without any male inmates and such a one as is always selected by the offender, and where his appearance was perfectly familiar, and at the time, with a bright moon and the full blaze of a gas light, the respondent in full view so that a mistake is impossible. Mr. Gilpin's analysis of the testimony and application of the facts, especially the fact of the defense that he followed a couple around for a morbid purpose, if true, at all, indicate the kind of man the respondent is, and points so strongly towards his guilt as to amount to a conviction. There are understood to be other instances, confirmed by other witnesses which point to the same person, and if guiltless he is of all men the most unfortunate.

Mr. Gilpin closed at two o'clock. The court adjudged the respondent to be guilty, whereupon Mr. Turner then requested Mr. Gilpin to say to the court that they could not sentence him, under an ordinance that was valueless, but the court held that they must take the law as they found it, while a higher authority must adjudicate upon its validity, and the case was held for advisement until Tuesday next, for sentence.

Mr. Gilpin also alluded to the fact of the respondent's offering Capt. Hammond all the money he had with him, if the former would release from arrest, as being a very damaging case to the respondent.

NOTES OF A SERMON ON INTEMPERANCE.

PREACHED IN THE UNITARIAN CHURCH, MARCH 8TH BY THE REV. JOHN C. KIMBALL. THE DISCOURSE WAS DELIVERED WITHOUT ANY NS, AND THE FOLLOWING IS ONLY AN IMPERFECT OUTLINE OF IT, WITHOUT THE STATISTICS, FACTS AND ILLUSTRATIONS WITH WHICH ITS POINTS WERE SUPPORTED.

Fear not them which kill the body but are not able to kill the soul. But rather fear him that is able to destroy both soul and body in hell. Matt. X:28.

The speaker, after an account of the new temperance movement at the West, said his object at the present time was not so much to discuss the wisdom of this method and the policy of its introduction here as to take advantage of the interest it has excited in calling the attention of his hearers to the enormity and the real nature of the evils of intemperance, and in leading them individually as Christian men and women to take a firmer stand on the subject.

In spite of the agitation which has been going on for the last twenty years, there are many persons in every community who are inclined to look at intemperance as only a slight matter, unworthy of all the hue and cry which have been raised over it, the mere ravages of a mouse to put down which the reformers have called out the artillery. The church has stood aloof from its discussion as not a respectable evil,—left it as a subject for the platform rather than the pulpit, for the common lead of reformers rather than the saints of the Lord, as an enemy of the body and not of the soul. The persons who have taken hold of it actively have been stigmatized, sometimes even by religion itself, as mere fanatics, alarmists, hobby-riders.

It is a mistaken view, one that interferes sadly with the energy with which the war against it should be carried on. There is hardly a possibility of stating its terrible effects in terms so strong that they are not more than warranted by the dread reality. The great thing needed now for the inspiration of temperance work is a more adequate conception on the part of the Christian world of the real nature of the foe against which they have to contend, and of the depth as well as the extent of its ravages.

Its outward evils were then referred to, the poverty and misery it produces in society at large; the burdens of taxation it heaps up; the awful crimes of which it is the cause; the blight and disease it brings on the bodies of its victims; the homes once happy it breaks up; the tears and groans and heartaches, the long anxiety, the blighted hopes and the bitter despair it causes to innocent relatives and friends; the liability of all classes of society and all stations of life to its visitations; and the awful tide of disease and blight and of a kindred appetite it pours from generation to generation into the very blood of our race. There is no other vice in the whole round of shame which is branded so thoroughly with God's curse on its brow; none other the penalty of which, even to the outward eye, is at once so glaring and infallible.

These outer evils, however, with all their magnitude and malignity, are by no means the worst of its features. There is something which lies within the body, something which stands behind physical health and strength, behind social enterprise and thrift, something which is more precious even than the shrine of home, which is blighted and destroyed. It is the victim's manhood, his self-respect, his character; it is the very fountain of life within his own being. Intemperance is one of those two sins, of which the other and the fit companion is lust, whose pangs pass through the body and strike down into the soul itself, a foe which seems especially to meet our Savior's definition, "Fear him that is able to destroy soul and body in hell." Its inner effects were then described and illustrated;—the change it works in the man's whole nature, converting it often times into that of a demon; the difficulty of throwing off its terrible bondage when once it has become seated on the throne of the will; the delusion it produces in its victim with every fresh step that he is in no possible danger; the blighting and burning up of every noble aspiration, every kindly affection, every manly principle; and finally the horribleness and hopelessness of the death in which it results, a death over which even the most loving faith must tremble and shudder, so scorched and ruined does even the spirit itself seem to be.

It is this which, from the Christian standpoint, is the great evil of intemperance, this its heaviest burden, this its intolerable curse, this the danger which separates the use of alcohol from all other poisons, and makes the work against it to be worthy preëminently of the Christian zeal. It is a matter not only of outward poverty and wretchedness and disease, but of spiritual ill being, of poverty and wretchedness and blight and disease, within. It is a soul weapon which not only kills the man, but kills his manhood. The soul of its victim, the sublimest thought of God in this lower world, is robbed, maimed, bruised and brought down to a grave deeper, darker, more terrible than anything which flesh and blood can know. It is a sad thing to behold a ruined home, its hearth cold, its table empty, its walls bruised, its windows broken, its voices hushed, its lovelight darkened; a sad thing to behold a ruined state, its fields wasted, its streets bloody, its temples shattered, its heroes dead, and the page of its long glory extinguished in the night of shame. But the saddest thing in all this world, the one which tells the most of blight and woe and loss, is the sight of a ruined man. And it is this above and beyond all the others, who has not seen it too often? who say the picture is one particle overdrawn? this is the work of intemperance.

In view of such ruin, what folly, what madness for any human being for the gratification of a mere bodily appetite, for the plucking of a poisoned flower whose sweetness at the most can endure only for a few brief hours, to expose himself to the danger forever of its curse.

And in view of what it is doing to our fellow men, both to their bodies and their souls, who shall say evils are not large enough to warrant all the hue and cry which have been made against them, yea all the efforts that the Christian church, even with its warmest zeal, is likely to put forth. No disciple of Christ has any moral right to pass the temperance reform by on the other side as a poor, wounded, vulgar cause with which he has nothing to do. Its work is Gospel work, its salvation the salvation of human souls. Every effort that is made its behalf, every word spoken for its help, is so much done for the honor of God's name: every soul, every neighborhood, every town redeemed to its sway, so much accomplished for the spread of Christ's kingdom.

The Season of Intermittents.

All miasmatic complaints, in other words, all disorders generated by marsh ... exhalations from the earth or water, are prevalent at this season. In every district subject to the visitation of fever and ague or other forms of intermittent disease, the causes which produce these maladies are now actively at work. This, therefore, is a period of the year when the inhabitants of such districts should prepare their systems to meet the unwholesome condition of the atmosphere, by a course of tonic and alterative treatment. Foremost among the invigorants, recommended by time and experience, as a means of fortifying the system against all endemic and epidemic maladies, stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Whoever has traveled in the West or South knows full well the esteem in which this incomparable preventive and restorative is held throughout those regions. It is literally a domestic staple in the swampy and mephitic localities which lie on the borders of many of our large rivers and in the neighborhood of our southern bayous and lagoons. Now is the time when the inhabitants of all malarious districts should put their systems and constitutions in good defensive trim by a course of this powerful vegetable antidote. By this means the feeblest resident of an unhealthy soil may escape the sickness, which without the aid of this potent ally of nature, will be apt to overtake the strongest. Chills and fever, bilious remittents, constipation, rheumatism, dyspepsia, and many other complaints are frequently brought on by the caprices of temperature and alternations of dry cold and excessive moisture common in our climate at the commencement of spring. Let all who desire to avoid these distressing ailments take the Bitters as a safeguard.

Astral Oil.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WHAT IS IT? Astral Oil is a derivative of petroleum, produced by a new and improved process of manufacture, which gives it all the good, without any of the objectionable qualities of ordinary refined kerosene. Explosion is guarded against, and families can burn ASTRAL OIL with THE SAME ASSURANCE OF SAFETY AS THEY CAN GAS.

ITS QUALITIES—It is perfectly pure, containing no mixtures or chemicals. It gives a clear, uniform and beautiful light, unequalled even by gas. It is free from objectionable odors. It burns in the ordinary kerosene lamps. It is always uniform in quality.

ITS SAFETY—The Astral Oil may be relied upon as non-explosive and in every way perfectly safe to use. If, while burning, a lamp be upset and broken, the contents will not explode or take fire. It is the safest oil that can be made. Persons once using it will have no other. For sale by Grocers generally. d23 OLIVER JOHNSON & CO. Wholesale Agents.

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Funeral of Senator Sumner.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Resolutions were reported in the Senate, this morning, directing the president of the Senate to appoint a committee to make arrangements for the funeral of Senator Sumner, after which the Senate adjourned.

The President of the Senate announced the following named committee to make arrangements for the funeral tomorrow.

Senators Anthony, Schurz, Frelinghuysen, Morrill of Maine, Stevenson and Thurman.

The committee to accompany the remains to Boston has not yet been announced.

Senator Sumner's chair in the Senate Chamber is draped in mourning, with a beautiful bouquet of flowers on his desk.

The action of the Senate was reported to the House, whereupon Judge Hoar arose, and after some feeling remarks about the death of Mr. Sumner, offered resolutions accepting the invitation of the Senate to attend funeral services in their chamber at half past twelve o'clock, and also to appoint a committee of nine members to escort the remains to Boston.

The resolutions were adopted, and the House on motion of Judge Hoar, adjourned.

Among the members of the House committee is Mr. Rainey (colored) of South Carolina.

The committee in charge of the remains will probably leave here tomorrow night for Boston.

It is stated that a request has been made by the authorities of New York that the remains rest in that city one day.

Jayne's Trial.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Attorney Bliss of New York appeared before the ways and means committee today in defence of the moiety system. He said that behind all these complaints of hardships to merchants were men seeking to protect themselves from the consequences of discovered fraud, suits in relation to which are now pending.

The reason, he said, that Stewart, Claflin and other merchants are not here is that they suffer no hardships under the laws. The New York chamber of commerce don't know what it is talking about; and there is no such law or practice in seizing books and papers as they claim. He endeavored to maintain the constitutionality of the law authorizing seizures, but thought that it might be amended so as that books may be examined in the presence of counsel. There must be intent to defraud to insure forfeiture. He endeavored to explain the laws relative to the entry of goods. He said that Mr. Schultz's head was turned by the case of Harvey Barnes, and stated that there was no threat or compulsion in the Phelps-Dodge case. Recess was then taken.

The Object of General Schenck's visit.

General Schenck's visit to the United States is connected with the negotiation of a new reciprocity treaty between Great Britian and this republic, which is to obviate any further proceedings under those clauses of the Alabama treaty which provided a joint commission to remunerate the British colonies for their losses on account of the free admission of our fishermen to their coasts.

NEW YORK.

Ex-President Fillmore Senator Sumner.

NEW YORK, March 12.—All the federal officers here are closed today in respect to the memory of ex-President Fillmore, whose funeral takes place at Buffalo today. There are many flags at half mast on account of the deaths of Fillmore and Sumner. No action relative to the death of Senator Sumner will be taken by the New England Society until its regular monthly meeting.

The Union League Club will hold its regular meeting tonight, when the death of Senator Sumner will be announced, he being one of its honorary members. A series of appropriate resolutions will be adopted and eulogies upon the deceased, pronounced by Elliot C. Cowdin and Hon. Isaac H. Bailey, both being officers of the New England Society. It is expected that Hon. William M. Evarts will also deliver an eulogy.

The Proprietor of a Harlem Distillery Ready to Surrender.

Maurice Sands, owner of the Harlem distillery, which sells at retail at wholesale prices, attended a temperance meeting last evening in the Second Avenue Methodist Church, of which he is a member, and said to his pastor: "That prayer meeting Sunday, has killed my business deader than a hammer; I haven't taken in fifteen cents all day." Brother Sands is expected to enve, even earlier than already promised, when he finds other business.

The New Reformed Church.

The organization of the new Reformed Church here has just been completed by the acceptance by Bishop Cummins of the rectorship. The amount of salary will be fixed by a vote of the entire congregation on Easter Monday. Dr. Subine, who was chosen as vestryman, has declined to act, but has given a handsome donation to the enterprise.

Otherwise Engaged.

A requisition from Governor Dix to the Governor of Massachusetts, for the alleged murder of Graham at Little Neck, L. I., was declined, as the prisoner is now serving a sentence of twenty years in the state prison. The governor of Massachusetts says that as he would have to be pardoned by him, he thinks it best that the certainty of the present punishment should not be relinquished for an uncertainty in New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Crusade in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, March 12.—The saloon keepers here say there will be no resistance by them to the women's visits, but it is thought that there will be trouble should they visit the breweries. It is stated that the breweries feel the falling off of business very materially and wholesale whiskey dealers complain of stagnation. A petition to the Constitutional Convention for a license clause is extensively signed.

Archbishop Purcell writes a letter in which he does not condemn the women's movement, but thinks the license law should be enforced.

The Centennial Committee Will Vigorously Work.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 12.—At a meeting of the centennial executive committee, yesterday, it was resolved to continue vigorous prosecution of the preparations for the exhibition, and that all the preliminary steps thus far taken forbid the abandonment of the international features of the celebration.

A Victory for Women.

DES MOINES, March 12.—The senate today—27 to 1—adopted the house joint resolution for a constitutional amendment giving women the right of suffrage.

The Temperance Agitation.

WORCESTER, March 12.—After ten days of prayerful preparation the women of Worcester today made their first public step toward the overthrow of the rule of rum in this city. They have organized committees who will canvass all the hotels, saloons, club-rooms, drug-stores &c., to ask proprietors to abandon the improper sale of intoxicants, and to enforce their appeal by endeavors to rouse their consciencies, assuring them, in every case, that the women are praying for them and continue to do so.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

The Ring trial was concluded today, Mr. Beach summing up for the defence, and District-Attorney Phelps for the prosecution. Judge Brady's charge was, on the whole, unfavorable to the prisoner, leaving the jury to decide from the evidence of the conflicting doctors upon the question of insanity. He disposed of the injured husband's defence with remarks that every one must obey the law, and give the husband no right to slay the seducer. The jury retired at 4 o'clock. They came into court at 7.15, and asked the judge to repeat his instructions on the second degree of manslaughter. Judge Brady did so, and reminded them that he told them the case did not come under those degrees, and that counsel assented. They asked for the definition of murder in the second degree, which was given, with the instruction that it did not apply to the case. The jury asked if they had a right to find lesser degrees of murder or manslaughter. The court replied that they had a physical right to do so. The jury again returned.

The property of the Knickerbocker Hotel Company was sold at auction Wednesday, by order of the United States district court, under the direction of the assignee in bankruptcy, to R. W. Sears, of Boston, for $795,538.

Before the canal committee, Tuesday, William Baxter made a claim for the entire $100,000 award which the commissioners were authorized to make for the best plan of canal navigation. It is reported that the committee will report in favor of granting it.

Cyrus White, a clerk in the custom house, has been arrested and held in $10,000 for trial on a charge of forging a certificate of stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, raising it from five to one hundred shares, and receiving pay for the latter number of shares.

The women of the Forsyth Street Methodist Church have agreed to open the fight against the liquor traffic by informing grocers that to retain their custom they must give up the sale of liquor, and the women of the Seventeenth street Church are pleading with members who keep or let buildings for the sale of liquor in the neighborhood of the churches. A band of praying women who visited a bar-room on Fulton street, Brooklyn, yesterday, were driven out by force. They were all widows, whose families had suffered from the sales of liquor at the place visited. Another saloon-keeper was visited today by the ladies. He expressed a determination to leave the business as soon as practicable. There will be mass meetings at the Tabernacle on the 17th, Plymouth Church on the 20th and Church of the Pilgrims the following week. One dealer in New York is reported to have given his word of honor that no more liquor will be sold by him. The stock on hand has been disposed of and the establishment closed. George Low will address a temperance meeting tomorrow night. A Christian Women's League has been organized by the ladies of the Seventeenth street M. E. Church to engage in the temperance work.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION AT PROVIDENCE.

THURSDAY, March 12.

Senate.

The senate met at half-past 10 o'clock, Lieutenant Governor Van Zandt in the chair.

Mr. Currey, of Providence, from the committee on the judiciary, reported back house bill for "An act to define and punish vagrancy," which was not concurred in on recommendation of the committee.

On motion of Mr. Cross the action of yesterday indefinitely postponing an act in amendment to chapter 187 of the general statutes "Of the clerks of the supreme court and court of common pleas," requiring the clerks of the supreme courts of the different counties to make reports of all applications for divorce, but without giving the names of the parties, was reconsidered, and the bill was recommitted to the committee on the judiciary.

Mr. Verry, of Woonsocket, called from the committee on education the joint resolution (from the house) instructing the committee on education of both houses to inquire into and report to the General Assembly upon the working, cost and efficiency of the public school system in the state. Laid on the table.

Mr. Powel of Newport, gave notice that he would at a future day offer an amendment to chapter 118 of the general statutes "Of the essay and inspection of spirituous liquors."

The report of the committee of the house upon woman's suffrage with accompanying resolutions was received and referred to the committee on education.

Mr. Powel of Newport presented the report of the state board of pharmacy, which was received, and ordered printed in the schedule.

Mr. Powel also reported back from the committee on corporations an act to extend the time for the completion of the Pawtuxet Valley Railroad to February 1, 1875.

The senate then adjourned to Friday.

House.

The house met this morning as per adjournment, the Speaker in the chair.

Mr. Eaton, of North Providence, called up the special order of the day, the report of the special committee on woman's suffrage, with the accompanying resolution. The resolution was read after discussion the question was taken on the resolution as reported by the committee.

Mr. Eaton called for the yeas and nays, and, it was passed by the following vote, a majority of all the members of the house voting in the affiamative:

NAYS—Messrs. Bates, Capwell, Wm. H. Clarke, George Lewis Cooke, Dixon, Bradbury C. Hill, Wm. Hill, Manchester, Mathewson, Miller, Page, Ralph, Ross, Sheldon, Springer, Staples, Thomas—17.

The resolution as passed is as follows:

Resolved. A majority of all the members elected to each house of the General Assembly concurring herein, that the following article be proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the state, and that the secretary of the state cause the same to be published, and printed copies thereof to be distributed in the manner provided in article XIII of the constitution.

ARTICLE.

Men and women, politically and legally shall be entitled to equal rights and privileges, and shall be subject to equal duties and liabilities.

The house adjourned till tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

A USEFUL CABINET MINISTER.—Among the coming men is supposed to be Mr. W. H. Smith, the great London news agent, whose Conservatism is, for some reason, pleased and delightful even to the most radical newspapers. In fact, whatever Mr. Smith does is always right in the eyes of all newspapers published in London. Mr. Smith represents a great and singular monopoly. He holds all, or nearly all, the book-stalls at the railway stations by contract with the railway companies and on the railway stalls depends a very considerable part of the circulation of the newspapers. No new paper has a ghost of a chance unless Mr. Smith chooses to admit it to his stalls, and even the old ones might find themselves in an awkward corner if he happened to take it into his head to quarrel with them. I need hardly say, however, that this has nothing whatever to do with the favor which Mr. Smith finds with an independent and disinterested press. If he is always greeted with reverence and applause, it is only because he is so good and wise. Mr. Smith is spoken of as the working man at the education office in Mr. Forster's place, and he has certainly had a good deal to do already with our form of popular education. PATENT

PARABOLA SPECTACLES.

Constructed in accordance with the Philosophy of Nature.

ADMIRABLY ADAPTED TO THE ORGANS OF SIGHT, AND AFFORDING ALTOGETHER THE BEST ARTIFICIAL

Help to the Human Vision.

The Parabola Glasses can be used for the greatest length of time, either by day or night, with perfect ease, (when selected to suit the state of the eye,) and never cause that giddiness of the head, or unpleasant sensation to the eyes that many experience from using the common kind, but tend to strengthen and improve the sight.

[From the Rev. Thomas Potter, Norwich Conn.]

Having used a pair of the Parabola Spectacles, I am fully persuaded of their superiority over every other kind, and am confident that the best recommendations are impartial trials. THOMAS POTTER.

[From the Hon. Isaac Hill, late Governor of New Hampshire.]

I have used the Parabola Spectacles for the last three years; and with eyes prematurely injured by severe catarrh for more than forty years, I find them unsurpassed, especially in night reading. ISAAC HILL.

[From M. G. Kerr, M. D., Norristown, Pa.]

I do most willingly bear my testimony in favor of the superiority of the Patent Parabola over all other kinds of Spectacles. They are constructed upon the best established and understood principles of Optics, and their adaptation to the human Eye in its different conditions of vision is so perfect as to render sight easy without effort. In my opinion, none others should be used, since the Eyes once used to these do not seem to grow old, and by having a focus at any point of the surface they appear to restore the eyes to their youthful energy. M. G. KERR, M. D.

[From Isaac Heister, M. D., Reading, Pa.]

I have for several years worn the Patent Parabola Spectacles, and have found them decidedly superior to the Spectacle glasses heretofore in use.

ISAAC HEISTER, M. D.

☞ Should the focus of these Glasses, after making trial of them, be found not adapted to the sight, purchasers are particularly requested to have them changed until suited.

FRIDAY, MARCH, 13, 1874.

THE WHITE HOUSE MATRIMONIAL GOSSIP. —And now the different matrimonial engagements are announced. Miss Grant's marriage to Mr. Sartoris is fixed for October next. Mr. Sartoris is the son of Adelaide Kemble, and nephew to Fanny Kemble Butler. The young man travelled with Miss Grant upon her return from Europe, more than three years ago. He did not declare his love at that time, but went west on his journey. Happening to be in St. Louis when the President visited there last spring and witnessing the homage that was paid him on that occasion, it seemed to dawn upon the mind of the young man that the daughter of the American President was not altogether undesirable. He made known his intentions to the young lady's father who rejected him on account of the want of fortune on both sides, for, said the President, my daughter posesses no dowry, and he might have added, that our republican form of government forbids a salary being voted by Congress when a member of the royal family marries. For a time all negotiations were suspended, but an accident to the oldest son and heir removed all impediments, and as soon as Sartoris pere recovered from the shock of his eldest son's death (which was caused by his being thrown from his horse), he wrote to the President, and said that Miss Nellie's adorer could now support her comfortably on forty thousand dollars a year. This produced a revulsion and after a few preliminaries the engagement took place, and was announced. So there is something to stir us all up next fall! I am told that the Sartoris house, near London is the resort of all authors, artists and celebrities. Those who know Miss Nellie's fondness for dancing have asked if there was a ball-room and did the old folks enjoy the German? No doubt Miss Nellie will prove herself a true American girl, who can fill and adorn any station. Col. Fred Grant's fiancee, Miss Kitty Cooke, has returned from Europe, and is a perfect beauty. She is lovely in character, too, and I hope the young man appreciates his good fortune.—[Washington Letter in Louisville Courier Journal.

Country practitioner [about going up to London on business]:—"I shan't be more than ten days at the furthest, Mr. Fawceps. You'll visit the patients regularly, and take care that none of 'em slip through your fingers—or get well—during my absence."—[Punch.

Fire! Fire! Fire!

Make Sure

Against losses by fire by insuring in first class companies, and such as are fully able to meet their liabilities. The time has gone by when "one Policy is as good as another." Consider the following facts:—

THE ÆTNA, of Hartford, is the largest Company in the United States. The Losses paid by it at the Boston and Chicago fires were greater than the combined capital of TWENTY ordinary Companies. It has paid in all over and has now about $6,000,000, with which to offer indemnity to property holders in the future.

The Insurance Company of North America is the Oldest Stock Company in the United States. It has Assets of $3,276,739, and has paid Losses to the amount of $25,000,000.

The Royal, of Liverpool, has Assets amounting to $11,000,000.

In addition to these I have the agency of the German American, of New York, the Scottish Commercial, of Glasgow, the Hartford, of Hartford, the Orient, of Hartford and the Roger Williams of Providence.

All classes of property covered at current rates.

Dwelling houses and their contents insured AT VERY LOW RATES.

Lucius D. Davis,

DAILY NEWS BUILDING.

SCOTTISH

Commercial Insurance Co.,

OF

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND.

ASSETS $4,000,000.

THE increase of my insurance business render it necessary to add another to the list of Companies represented at my agency. Determined to have none but the very best, I have secured as worthy to stand alongside such institutions as the ROYAL of Liverpool, ÆTNA of Hartford, INS. CO OF NORTH AMERICA, Phila., HARTFORD of Hartford, &c.

☞ Policies issued at current rates.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of Inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
